Keywords:	Social Sciences, Colleges, Educational attainment, Employment, Fields of study, Graduates, Job satisfaction, Occupations, Postsecondary education, Surveys, Transition from school to work, Underemployment, Unemployment, University graduates, Vocational training
Topic Classification:	Education

Abstract:

This survey was designed to determine such factors as: the extent to which graduates of postsecondary programs had been successful in obtaining employment since graduation; the relationship between the graduates' programs of study and the employment subsequently obtained; the graduates' job and career satisfaction; the rates of under-employment and unemployment; the type of employment obtained related to career expectations and qualification requirements; and the influence of postsecondary education on occupational achievement. The information is directed towards policy makers, researchers, educators, employers and young adults-interested in postsecondary education and the transition from school to work of trade/vocational, college and university graduates. Please note that the National Graduates Survey (NGS) 2013, class of 2009-2010 was conducted three years after graduation, whereas previous National Graduate Surveys were conducted two years after graduation. While information on graduates at the time of graduation is comparable across cycles, information on graduate's activities at the time of the interview are not directly comparable. For example, labour market outcomes and debt repayment pertain to status three years after graduation for the NGS 2013 compared to two years after graduation for other cycles of NGS.

Country:	Canada
Geographic Unit(s):	Province
Unit of Analysis:	Individuals
Universe:	Graduates from Canadian public postsecondary education institutions (universities, colleges, trade schools) who graduated or completed the requirements for degrees, diplomas or certificates during the reference school year are the targeted population for this survey. Excluded are: graduates from private postsecondary education institutions; completers of continuing-education programs (unless these led to a degree, diploma or certificate); persons who completed programs lasting less than three months; persons who completed programs other than in the skilled trades (e.g. basic training and skill development); completers of provincial apprenticeship programs and those living outside of Canada or the United States at the time of the survey.
Kind of Data:	Microdata
Kind of Data:	Survey data

Methodology and Processing

Time Method:	Cross-sectional
Data Collector:	Statistics Canada
Sampling Procedure:	This is a sample survey with a cross-sectional design. The National Graduates Survey uses a stratified simple random sample design. The sample selection of graduates within strata is done without replacement and using a systematic method. Three variables are used for stratification: geographical location of the institution, level of certification and field of study. There are 13 geographical locations: the 10 provinces and the three northern territories. There are five levels of certification: trade/ vocational certificate or diploma Quebec only, college diploma, bachelor's degree, master's degree, and doctorate. The "trade/vocational" level in Quebec pertains to programs typically offered outside of the postsecondary sector. Finally, there are 12 fields of study: categories 01 to 12 of the primary groupings of the Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP). The combination of these three variables makes for a possibility of 636 strata in total. However, there are not graduates in every possible strata and therefore, the final number of strata created was 434.
Mode of Data Collection:	Structured
Type of Research Instrument:	Questionnaire: For the most part, the questionnaire used was the same as for the 2007 National Graduates Survey (Class of 2005).

Sources Statement

Data Sources:	Data are collected directly from survey respondents.

Characteristics of Data Collection Situation:	Computer-assisted telephone interviews were conducted with graduates living in Canada or in the United States.
Response Rate:	The overall response rate for the NGS2013 is 49.1%.
